Stay covered

Watch for important updates

The rules for keeping your Medicaid coverage may be changing. It's important to stay informed so you can keep your benefits.

You may need to take action to keep your coverage. This could include things like updating your information or completing certain requirements.

Watch for messages from AHCCCS. These messages will tell you what you need to do and when to do it.

Staying on top of these updates can help you avoid gaps in your coverage.

Digital skills

Learn new digital skills at your library

Your local library may offer free classes to help you use technology and find trusted health information online.

Programs like Digital Pathways from the American Library Association help adults build confidence using the internet, email, video calls and online services. These skills can support your health, work and daily life.

Libraries are safe, welcoming places that offer free support and learning opportunities.

Try something new.
Call or visit your local library to learn about classes that can help you build your skills.

Healthy looks different for everyone

For some, it may mean eating balanced meals or staying active. For others, it may mean getting enough rest, managing stress or taking care of ongoing health needs. Small steps can help support your health in ways that work best for you.

Flu shot

Protect yourself this flu season

Flu season is here. The flu can spread easily from one person to another.

The flu is more serious than a cold. Each year, many people get sick. Some may need to see a doctor or go to the hospital.

Getting a flu shot is the best way to help protect you and the people around you. It can help keep you from getting sick and may help prevent serious illness.

Flu shots are covered at no cost to you. They are quick and simple to get.

Getting a flu shot each year matters. The flu virus can change, so this helps protect you each season.

Stay protected this season
Visit your doctor or a nearby pharmacy to get your flu shot.

Healthy First Steps®

Extra support for a healthy pregnancy

If you are pregnant or planning to be, your health plan may offer extra support.

Healthy First Steps is a program that supports you during pregnancy and after your baby is born. It connects you with a care manager who helps you stay on track and get the care you need.

Your care manager will work with you to create a plan and help you stay on track with care before and after your baby is born.

The program may help you:

- Schedule doctor visits and find a ride
- Manage your care during pregnancy
- Get help after your baby is born
- Find local programs and services

If you need extra help, your care manager can check in and help coordinate your care.

Want to learn more? Call Member Services to learn about Healthy First Steps and available pregnancy support services. For more information and resources to support a health pregnancy, go to everypregnancy.com.

Crush cancer

Screenings to find cancer early

Getting screened for cancer is very important. Finding cancer early makes it easier to treat. Ask your doctor about these screenings during your next visit.

1. Cervical cancer screening

Cervical cancer screening is recommended for women beginning at the age of 21. Talk to your doctor about the most appropriate screening option for you. Testing can end at age 65 for women with a history of normal cervical cancer screening results.

2. Breast cancer screening

Individuals between the age of 40 and 74 should get a mammogram every one to two years. Ask your doctor if you are due for your mammogram.

3. Colorectal cancer screening

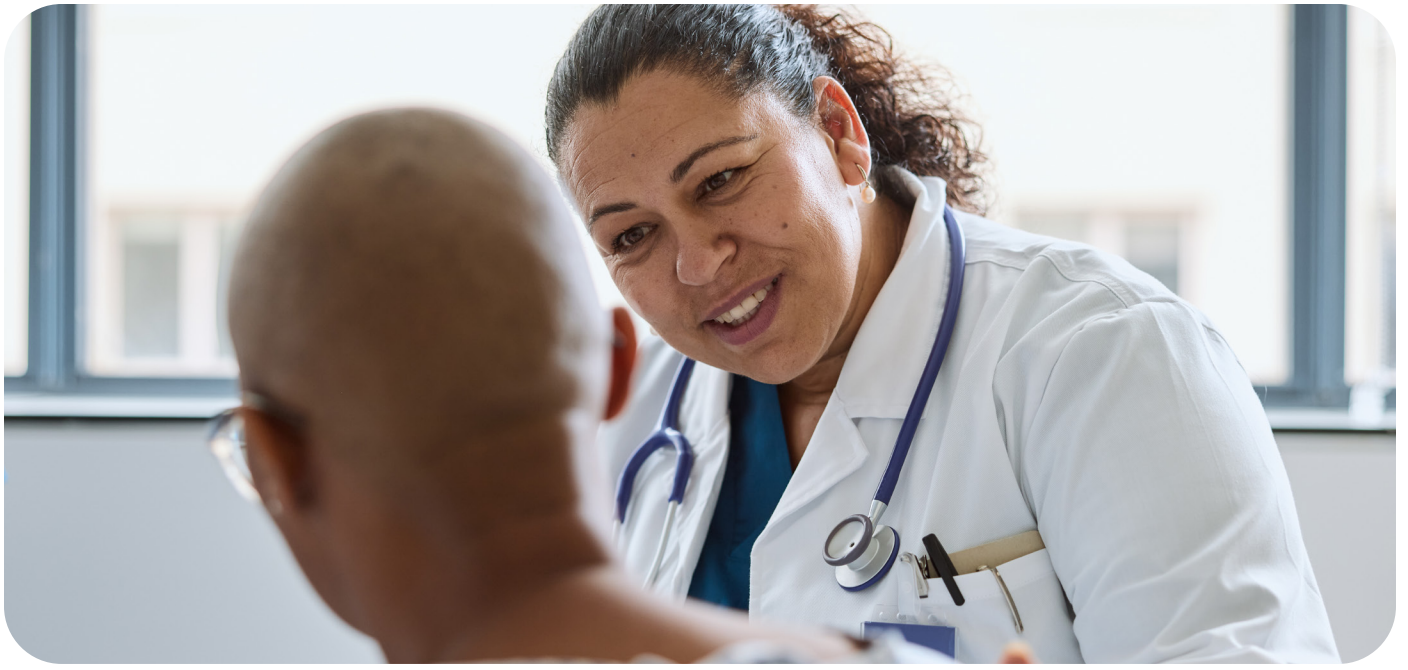

Adults should get colorectal cancer screening between the age of 45 to 75. There are many screening options available. Talk to your doctor about which test may be best for you.

4. Prostate cancer screening

If you are a man age 55 to 69, talk to your doctor about prostate cancer screening. This may include a blood test.

5. Lung cancer screening

If you are age 50 to 80 and have a history of heavy smoking, talk to your doctor about lung cancer screening. This test is a quick scan of your lungs. Sometimes, it can lead to more tests if something unclear is found. Talk to your doctor to see if you qualify for this screening.

Healthy living

Small steps for a healthier you

Your physical health and mental health are both important. They work together to help you feel your best.

When you feel stressed, sad, or worried, it can affect your body. You may have trouble sleeping, eating well, or staying active. Health problems in your body can also affect how you feel emotionally.

That is why your health plan works with your doctors and other health care providers to support your whole health. We help connect physical health and behavioral health services so you can get the care you need.

For example, if you see your doctor and talk about feeling stressed or sad, your doctor may help connect you with behavioral health services. If you are getting behavioral health care, your providers can also help you stay on track with your physical health needs.

Taking care of your health can start with small steps. Try drinking more water, taking a short walk, getting enough sleep, or talking to someone you trust about how you feel.

You do not have to do it alone. Your health plan can help connect you to doctors, behavioral health providers, and other programs that support your health.

Take the next step.
Talk with your doctor about your physical and mental health needs. Working together can help you stay healthier and feel your best.

Bright smiles, healthy lives

Good oral health is key to overall wellness

A healthy smile is about more than just your teeth – it plays an important role in your overall well-being. Poor oral health can increase the risk of serious health problems, including heart disease and diabetes. By caring for your teeth and gums every day, you are also helping to protect your body.

Cavities, also called tooth decay, are one of the most common dental problems. Left untreated, they can cause pain and make everyday activities such as eating, speaking, and learning more difficult.

Half of Arizona's kindergarten children (50%) have a history of tooth decay. That number reaches 63% by third grade.

Oral health is especially important during pregnancy. Maintaining healthy teeth and gums may help reduce the risk of pregnancy complications, including premature birth and low birth weight.

Building good dental habits early helps children develop a lifetime of healthy smiles. Parents and caregivers can make oral care fun and encourage children to take pride in caring for their teeth.

Tips for a healthy mouth:

- Visit the dentist every six months for regular checkups
- Brush teeth twice a day with fluoride toothpaste
- Floss daily to remove food and plaque between teeth
- Help children under age 8 brush and floss until they can do so effectively on their own

A few minutes of daily dental care can help keep a mouth healthy and bright for years to come.

Don't forget the fluoride

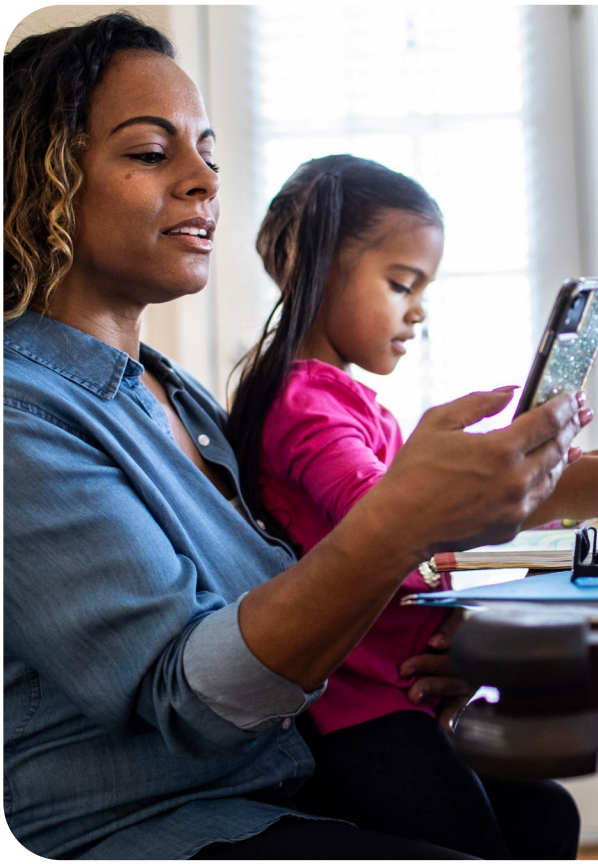

Fluoride helps make teeth stronger and less likely to get cavities. A Primary Care Provider (PCP) or dentist can apply fluoride varnish. During a child's well visit, the PCP will do an oral screening. The PCP may recommend a fluoride treatment. Your child's PCP can apply fluoride varnish as early as 6 months up to age 5. Dentists may recommend fluoride at each dental check-up. Dentists can apply fluoride every six months starting at age six months up to age 21.

Find your dental home

We connect all members under the age of 21 to a dental home. This is a specific dentist or dental office where you can go for your family's dental needs. If you do not know where your dental home is or need help changing it, we can help. Call Member Services toll-free at the phone number on page 7.
