Mindful Eating

Mindfulness is the practice of paying attention, deliberately and non-judgmentally. With practice, mindfulness may cultivate the possibility of freeing yourself of reactive, habitual patterns of thinking, feeling and acting. This practice can be applied to any area of your life; applying these principles to eating may allow for an improved relationship with food.

Mindful Eating helps remove judgment surrounding your food choices, encouraging for individuality within your choices. Bringing awareness to the here and now can allow for presence and attention to the eating experience and to your hunger and satiety cues. In this process, YOU are the expert, making choices from a place of inner guidance vs. external cues. Mindfulness may help you move from unconscious, reactive behaviors to awareness, which can be the first step in making a positive change.
