Primary care physicians — providing the care and guidance you deserve.

Primary care physicians typically work in the fields of family medicine, general internal medicine or general pediatrics. Primary care physicians help provide an efficient mechanism to access care, and having a primary care physician can help minimize trips to the emergency room and urgent care centers.

Your primary care physician will:

• Serve as a health care guide — a partner in your health care coordination.

• Assess your needs within a specialty and guide you to the appropriate specialist.

• Coordinate pre-operation testing and preparation, as well as completing the circle of care with follow-up.

• Assist in the coordination of cost-effective health services.
