1 How coverage works

What will I pay?

There are many types of costs to think about when choosing health coverage. These costs will vary depending on the coverage option you choose. Before you get started, here are some important words to know.

Monthly premium

The amount you pay each month to keep your health plan active.

Annual deductible

The amount you have to pay during the year for covered services or prescriptions before your health plan begins to pay.

Copays

The fixed dollar amount you have to pay for covered care services.

Coinsurance

The percentage of the total cost you have to pay out of pocket for covered care services.

3 Plan types

Learning the plan types

When choosing a plan, it's important to understand the different plan types and how they work. Plans on the Affordable Care Act (ACA) Marketplace are categorized based on how you and your plan split the cost of your health care. Plans go by Bronze, Silver, and Gold — known as the "metal" categories.

Bronze plan

Lowest monthly premiums

High deductible

Might be a good fit if: You're pretty healthy and rarely see your doctor. Bronze plans may have lower monthly premiums, but you'll have to pay more when you get health care.

Silver plan

Moderate monthly premiums

Moderate deductible

Might be a good fit if: You're fairly healthy and typically only see your doctor for your annual wellness visit. You qualify for extra savings through cost-sharing reductions. If you don't qualify for extra savings, a Silver plan may be a good option if you're willing to pay a slightly higher monthly premium than Bronze so you'll have less out-of-pocket expenses.

Reminder: If you qualify for cost-sharing reductions, you must pick a Silver plan to get those extra savings.

Gold plan

High monthly premiums

Low deductible

Might be a good fit if: You might be managing a health condition, taking a prescription medication and seeing your doctor multiple times a year. You're willing to pay more for your monthly premium to pay less when you get health care.

4 Ways to save

When enrolling in a health plan, you'll be asked to estimate your income for next year and provide other household information. That information is used to determine if you qualify for subsidized coverage. Subsidized coverage is only available through the Affordable Care Act (ACA) Marketplace. Here's a look at the two types:

Premium tax credit

A premium tax credit can be used to help lower your premium. A premium tax credit can be applied toward Bronze, Silver and Gold plan categories.

Cost-sharing reductions (“extra savings”)

Cost-sharing reductions help you save on out-of-pocket spending by lowering costs like copays, coinsurance and deductibles. Unlike premium tax credits, you can only use "extra savings" with a Silver plan.

What to expect after you enroll

- After you enroll in your UnitedHealthcare Individual & Family ACA Marketplace plan, watch for an invoice to pay your first month's premium payment to complete your plan enrollment and start your coverage. This payment is required to activate your plan and counts as your first month's premium payment. Your premium payment is due on the first of each month. You'll receive an invoice in the mail every month that shows what you owe and how to pay. There are 5 easy ways to pay: Autopay, UHC app, online, by phone or by mail.
- Also, keep an eye out for your Welcome mailer and health plan ID card. This should arrive in your mailbox 7 to 10 business days after we process your first premium payment.
- To help you get started, we'll assign a primary care provider (PCP) to everyone on your plan. If you would like to change your PCP you can visit your online account at myuhc.com/exchange, or call the member services number on your health plan ID card.
