

UnitedHealthcare Copay Card Solutions: variable copay

The use of copay cards from drug companies has become more popular with high-cost specialty medications. They can lower your out-of-pocket costs but may increase the plan's cost on some high-cost and non-preferred medications. Our new program lets you take advantage of the full value of manufacturer's copay cards, without changing your current out-of-pocket costs.

For a list of qualified medications, visit the Pharmacy programs page on uhc.com.

Here's how it works

- 1. If a coupon is used for certain specialty medications, a different copay will apply.
- 2. The higher the copay card value, the more coupon dollars that can be redeemed.
- 3. The coupon dollars will not apply towards your deductible and/or out-of-pocket maximum. Only the amount you pay for the remaining cost of medication will apply.

See example below:

| Sample copay amount: | $500 |
|--|-------|
| Minus sample drug copay help amount: | $100 |
| Sample amount you pay that goes to deductible/out-of-pocket limit: | $400 |
